

Login Box

The Login Box module displays a member login form directly on your website, giving members a quick and convenient way to access their accounts without having to navigate to a separate login page.

Once a member is logged in, the module automatically switches to display a Logout button in its place, keeping the experience clean and intuitive.

Adding the Login Box Module

To add the Login Box to your homepage, navigate to Edit Main Column, select Login Box from the dropdown menu, and click Add Module. Once added, it can be repositioned on the page using the module controls like any other module.

Using the Login Box

The login form includes fields for a username and password along with a Login button. For members who are new to the site, a registration link is displayed beneath the login button so they can sign up for an account. There is also a Forgot Your Login link available for members who need help recovering their credentials.

Why Use the Login Box Module?

Having the login form visible directly on the homepage makes it easy for members to sign in as soon as they arrive on the site. This is especially useful for websites where a significant portion of the content or features are restricted to members only, as it removes any friction between a member arriving on the site and accessing what they need.
